

Volunteers were given appropriate training by project staff from partner organisations during the various grounds development days in order to gain or develop environmental skills.

Volunteers as part of the Grounds Action Team will be essential in ensuring the lasting benefit of the project and maintain the breathing place for future generations.